

Dear Friends of the Discovery Museum,

This year, we have decided to redirect what we would normally spend on a colorful, printed Annual Report publication toward our primary operating objective: keeping our doors open and keeping all our staff fully employed. And so, this 2020 Report of Gifts acknowledges, with our deepest appreciation, those donors who came forward in support of the Discovery Museum at a time when our sense of balance and our ability to predict the future was challenged. We have tried to provide a return on that investment, in the form of uninterrupted service to the children and families in our extended museum community:

- Last spring, when the COVID-19 pandemic forced the closure of our museum, the Board and staff committed to waiving admission fees for the first month we could reopen. In a time in which so many things were outside our control, we knew that the Museum could be a much-needed place of comfort and respite for families. And the feedback of the 4,500 kids and adults who visited for free in August supported that—our favorite is: “I am very grateful for the opportunity to visit with my daughter during this strange time. COVID has turned things upside down but your staff has made the museum a calming and familiar place.”
- Likewise, spring brought the start of the total reimagining of our successful Traveling Science Workshops program—in which our educators have delivered hands-on science experiences to kids in schools for 25 years—to a virtual format for remote and hybrid classrooms. Thanks to online Workshop delivery, we are serving thousands of kids in hundreds of classrooms across Massachusetts and beyond, in a year when science learning is suffering more than ever.
- In the summer, the Museum added to its annual Speaker Series two events focused on Coronavirus and Family Mental Health, presented in partnership with the Clay Center for Young Healthy Minds at MGH. 580 people registered for these important conversations. The recordings are available on our website.
- Then, in fall, it was clear that we had to put on pause the 11-year tradition of free, in-person programs for families with kids with disabilities. To make sure that those families didn't lose their access to the Discovery Museum experience, every family who has attended one of those events in the last two years was offered a free one-year Museum membership. Within weeks, 125 families had confirmed their memberships, and so can visit the Museum for free as often as they'd like.

It has been both a worry and an extraordinary privilege to be in our roles through 2020—what a year for our museum. On reflection, our prevailing sentiment is gratitude: for the generosity of those who value this organization, and for the inherent scrappiness of the Discovery Museum and its ability to persist, working on behalf of children, no matter what.

Sincerely,

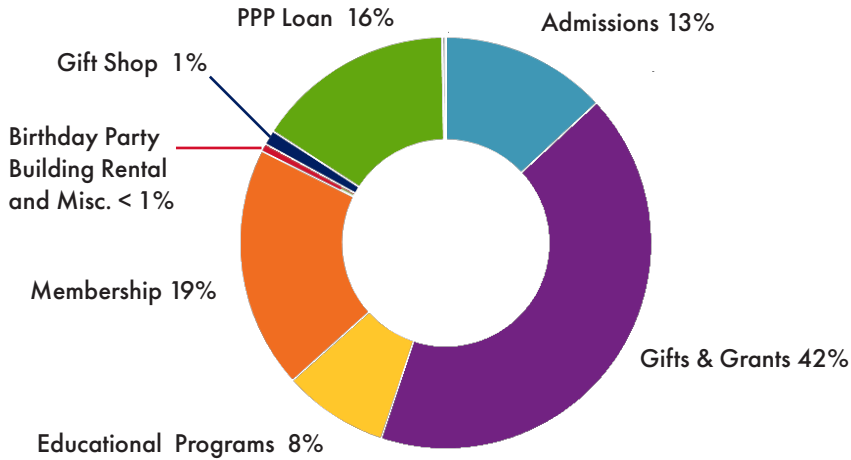

Neil H. Gordon, CEO

Harry Hollenberg, President, Board of Directors
